By leveraging proprietary and commercial technology with ReleasePoint's global service delivery model, MIDAS customers will experience industry-leading data-driven review.

- MIDAS users can see the value of committing to full clinical data extraction through their experience of navigating multiple records, from multiple sources, in one holistic patient-centric view.

- Designed to facilitate data utilization by PDF for organizations unable to utilize external web applications for medical review.

- Using a combination of leading-edge AI and human data curation, MIDAS delivers rich, high-quality structured data, allowing ReleasePoint to provide a consistent user experience throughout the medical review process.

Reserve time for a demo and see how MIDAS dramatically improves the speed and accuracy of medical record review.
